WASHINGTON, June 13 (UPI)—President Kennedy today stepped up his personal drive for equal rights for Negroes by conferring with top congressional leaders on new legislation and calling in 151 union chiefs to sign up for a new drive to wipe out job discrimination.

The President, who may submit his legislative proposals next week for 90 minutes with House and Senate leaders. The bipartisan session was designed chiefly to line up Republican support in the forthcoming anti-civil rights bill in Congress.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said afterward that the President's program would cover school integration, housing and Negro admittance to such places as hotels and restaurants. There had been reports that a similar program would be included, but Dirksen said not.

The President's conference with state and national union leaders was planned to enlist their help in the fight against discrimination—one of the major complaints of Negroes and the cause of demonstrations in various northern cities.

Among the labor leaders invited were 18 from the Deep South, including the AFL-CIO state leaders in North Carolina, Virginia, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida.

Kennedy's discussion with Dirksen Wednesday was the first since Dirksen's former position as chief executive of the White House for a late afternoon talk before the meeting. Dirksen said the meeting was "a very important one."

Scout Leader Offers His Condolences

PROVO, June 13. (AP)—Donald M. Higgins, New Brunswick, N.J., national director of health and safety for the Boy Scouts of America, Wednesday issued a statement in Provo expressing condolences to the families of those involved in the Monday tragedy near Hole-in-the-Rock.

Higgins said Scout leaders to give continued attention to safety precautions and strict adherence to established policies.

"We cannot help the boys who have died, but we can try to prevent a recurrence," said Higgins. "The fact that this trip was made under the auspices of SCOUTS OF AMERICA and not a council-sponsored trip, in no way lessens our interest and concern for those who were part of the group and the families and friends affected by the accident. The involvement of so many Scouts and Scouters causes a great deal of concern," said Higgins.

He pointed out that the Pleasant View first ward Explorer post, which was part of the group involved, had applied for a national tour permit some time before departure but had not filed the forms with the Provo office of the Utah national parks council. Just prior to the trip a local tour permit form was filed which indicated travel by bus.

Higgins said the local statement was a preliminary to a national release being made today over his signature from the national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America, reemphasizing the need for safety.

Higgins commented that while there is an occasional safety problem in Scouting, the biggest problem is water safety, with the greatest danger occurring when leaders with insufficient training conduct swimming. He said the national approach to swimming is expressed by a total of a release spelling out swimming safety rules—"they're going to swim—they must live—here's how."

The same approach applies to Scout travel—"they're going to travel—they must live—here's how."

Expressing sympathy to the parents and families of those whose lives were lost and those who were injured, Higgins said, "The Boy Scouts of America, together with the rest of the nation, is greatly shocked and terribly grieved by the tragedy."

Factory in Boise Razed By Flames

BOISE, June 13 (AP)—A spectacular fire that sent flames shooting 50 feet into the air and covered a wide area with clouds of smoke leveled the main assembly line of the Nashua Manufacturing Company here early this morning.

Flames left the 325-foot corrugated steel building a mass of twisted steel and smoldering rubble.

The structure also was used for storage of materials used in the manufacture of mobile trailer homes.

Two fire trucks from four companies—Whitney, Cole, Meridian and Triangle—answered the alarm which was turned in at about 2:05 a.m.

Firemen theorized that the fire had smoldered inside the building, possibly in the welding shop, for several hours before burning through the thin siding.

Richard D. Drury, manager of the Boise operation, said it would be several days before he could determine the amount of damage.

Both Whitney and Cole fire districts employed pumper trucks at the Ridenbaugh canal, approximately 500 yards north of the plant on Maple Grove road, to pump water to the site of the blaze.

By 2:30 a.m. most of the structure had collapsed and firemen were attempting to extinguish flames in several sections of the building containing inflammable material. They were also hoisting down nearby buildings to prevent a spread of the blaze.

No injuries were reported and it is believed no one was in the vicinity when the fire broke out.

Betancourt Orders Arrest of 400,000 Communists

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 13 (AP)—President Romulo Betancourt ordered the arrest of Venezuela's estimated 400,000 communists today, a move that drew fire from pro-Castro extremists Wednesday night following his escape from another assassination attempt.

Betancourt said three communist terrorists plotted to assassinate him Wednesday with a time bomb at the Roman Catholic archbishop's palace in Ciudad Bolivar, a river port 715 miles southeast of Caracas.

The president told a national radio audience that police nabbed two of the terrorists as they entered the palace with three sticks of dynamite and a timing device. The third plotter got away.

"Nobody cannot be subject to continued risk to property and life by a group of pyromaniacs and terrorists," Betancourt said in ordering Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez to start an immediate nationwide roundup of members of the already banned communist and MIR parties. The MIR, or Movement of the Revolutionary Left, is a pro-Castro revolutionary movement.

The order was the toughest against subversives who began moving against him shortly after he took office in 1958. The next election is scheduled for November. The president has banned communists from the election.

He has survived three previous known plots against his life and two revolts against his government. It is believed there were several other assassination attempts that never were announced.

Betancourt, noting that the government cannot hold anyone without charges for more than 30 days, vowed that every communist will be jailed again as soon as required. Such 30-day periods of detention could go on indefinitely.

The president, a moderate leftist, said he ordered the arrests because the legislature was taking too much time to enact an anti-terrorist emergency measure. The Orinoco river village of San Juan de los Rios was the scene of a proposed last week. The bill felt to disclose the plot against terrorists convicted of burning shortly before he arrived for the factories, one of their prime targets in a campaign stepped up since the Cuban crisis last fall.

Communist and MIR members in the senate and chamber of deputies have parliamentary immunity to Betancourt's arrest order.

The president, on a tour of the interior, went on the air from Bogota.

Subcommittee Okays Power Bill

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—The house reclamation subcommittee Wednesday approved a senate-passed bill to give the Pacific Northwest first call on federal power produced in the area.

The subcommittee approved a vote of 15 to 3. The bill was sent to the full interior committee which is scheduled to consider it June 26.

The bill approved by the subcommittee was an amended version of legislation introduced by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D., Wash., chairman of the senate interior committee.

This legislation is designed to pave the way for construction of extra-high-voltage transmission lines to carry surplus power from Columbia river dams as far south as Los Angeles. It is in the second ward Relief society.

tended to allow years that power needed for industry in the Pacific Northwest would be drained away for use by public agencies in California.

Under existing federal laws, public agencies in California would have preference over private industry to firm power in the Bonneville power administration system if an interstate were built.

The bill was amended to direct Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall to seek agreement on federal power to build two long-range transmission lines. The interior department is seeking an appropriation of 25 million dollars to begin federal construction of the lines.

However, Udall has told Congress that the department is already considering private proposals for construction of the interstate. He said the appropriation was needed to strengthen the department's hand in negotiations for private construction of all or part of the transmission lines.

Kiwanians Hear About Currency Act

PILER, June 13—The Centennial of the national currency act, which is being observed this year, was explained by Jack Ramsey to members of the Piler Kiwanis club at the Tuesday luncheon meeting.

The national currency act, which created national banks and also chartered national banks, was signed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1863. Prior to signing of the bill, each state issued its own currency, Ramsey stated.

Tom Driscoll, president, asked for volunteers to help prepare for Piler's Centennial observance June 21.

Guests at the meeting included Shelby Williams, Buhi; Dr. Joe Griffin, Wayne Allen and the Rev. Carl Lasser.

Negro Leader Slaying Has Compounded U.S. Racial Situation

(Editor's note—A Negro leader, Medgar W. Evers, died early Wednesday of an assassin's bullet in the back of his head in the back of a white car in the city of Memphis, Tenn. The assassination of Evers, a prominent leader of the civil rights drive, has compounded the racial situation, while moderate and the extreme.

By RELMAN MORIN
JACKSON, Miss., June 13 (AP)—The grim possibilities of the whole nation in the killing of Medgar W. Evers, highly placed Negro leader, are particularly evident in the South today. Southern Negroes see the danger of strong Negro reaction setting up a strong counterreaction among the white populace and if that happens, as a Southerner put it, "All hell will break loose."

Evers, Mississippi field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot in the back shortly after midnight Wednesday. He died 90 minutes later.

In the aftermath of his death, the outlook for the deeply aggravated struggle over civil rights in the United States appears to be taking these forms:

1. Increased aggressiveness among Negro organizations in the drive for full civil rights.
2. In numerous major cities, Negro leaders were in meetings. Telephone calls around the nation frequently brought the answer, "He is in conference."
3. After one such meeting, Arthur L. Johnson, Detroit NAACP official, said: "The result of Evers' death will be intensification of the drive of Negroes to achieve what Medgar wanted."
4. Several southerners spoke of the possibility of white counter-reaction.
5. Louis Eckl, editor of the Pineblow (Ala.) Times, said: "This is the danger: That people will stop thinking and start shooting. Generally speaking when you have a violent thing like this it firms the Negroes up. It is a highly explosive situation and liable to cause them to become more extreme in their actions and thinking, and could lead to disaster."
6. Newly established lines of communication between the races in the South are under severe strain today, if not actually broken down.
7. In many southern cities, moderates of both races have gradually been restoring communications in an effort to find peaceful solutions to the Negro demands for equality in the schools and in other facilities.
8. These gains are threatened to day.
9. Evers' death appears to be a severe setback for moderates of both races and an encouragement to extremists on both sides.
10. Both white and Negro observers said they believe the Black Muslims would "make immense capital out of this."
11. "It's made to order for them," a Negro leader said.
12. The Muslims are a Negro extremist organization which advocates complete separation of the races.
13. Muhammad Elijah, their leader, told the Associated Press in Phoenix last week that the white man is "the essence of evil."
14. Another example was a white Birmingham, Ala., businessman who said he had been prepared to agree to desegregate downtown store facilities.
15. "But when the Negroes started demonstrating, I said I would be damned if I would give them one inch," he said.
16. In these respects, Evers' death has dealt a fearful blow to the efforts of members of both races to find an accommodation for the anguished struggle over civil rights.

Eisenhower Says Costly Race Silly

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said Wednesday "anybody who would spend 40 billion dollars in a race to the moon for national prestige is nuts."

Eisenhower made the blunt remark at a breakfast meeting with about 100 Republican congressmen. Those attending the gathering said the former chief executive drew sustained applause when he made his "nuts" reference to the Kennedy administration's space program.

The breakfast was sponsored by the "8th club," composed of Republican members whose service in the house began with the 8th congress in 1961. They made Eisenhower an "honorary Republican congressman-at-large."

Looking fit and tan, Eisenhower arrived for the breakfast from Walter Reed hospital, where he underwent a routine physical checkup yesterday. He said he was given a clean bill of health.

The former chief executive gave frank comments on issues and answered questions put to him by congressmen about current affairs. He called President Kennedy's administration "the really irresponsible" for raising the spending budget and at the same time proposing to cut taxes.

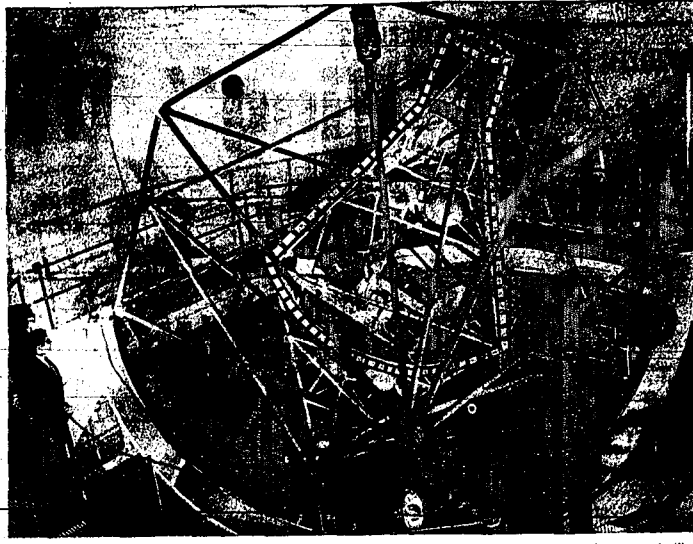

On defense spending, Eisenhower cautioned against appropriating unlimited amounts of money for the military services. He said it was up to congress to determine how much an "adequate" defense would cost, and then refuse to allow it more.

The former President also repeated the warning he made in his valedictory speech on leaving the White House—that the nation should beware of "the military-industrial complex." He said this problem was becoming more acute because "almost every congressman" now has a defense industry or military base in his district. He said he recognized that there was "pressure" on them to vote for ever-higher defense appropriations, but that they should resist approving expenditures beyond necessary limits.

Eisenhower advised the Republicans to work for effective legislation to guarantee Negro voting rights but said he did not think civil rights problems could be solved by "passing a whole bundle of laws."

Rep. Bob Dole, R., Kans., president of the "8th club," presented Eisenhower a parchment scroll designating him an "honorary member of congress."

MUCH OF THE SKILL that enabled astronaut Gordon Cooper to manually pilot his Mercury capsule out of orbit was gained from training in the simulator above. "Jungle gym" device is called MASTIP (multiple axis test inertia facility) and is at NASA's Lewis Research center in Cleveland, O. It simulates tumble-type maneuvers that can be encountered in space flight. Three tubular aluminum cages revolve separately or in combination to give roll, pitch and yaw motions. The pilot is strapped into a plastic couch at the center of the inner cage (outlined in white to show the shape of the actual Mercury capsule). Complex tumbling motions are started by an operator at a control station. By reading his instruments, pilot interprets his motions and makes corrections. Nitrogen gas jets, operated by stick in pilot's right hand, control the motion. MASTIP was the first simulator used by the Mercury astronauts, all seven of whom put in about five hours of "flight time" on it.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, June 13 — Born today, you have a great deal of mystic about you, and a natural bent toward the spiritual side of life. Dream and legend subconsciously play a great part in your daily life, guiding you toward decisions you might not otherwise make, toward actions you might not otherwise perform. Fortunately, these subconscious directives all seem to be pointed in the right direction and you can follow them without fear of error.

Affectionate, you become easily attached to any who show you even the smallest kindness or attention. On the other hand, your fine instincts tell you before too long whether such an attachment is deserved or not and you are not averse to breaking off a connection that does not prove itself good or worthwhile. It is this that should save you from making a mistake in marriage.

You have charm, wit and attraction for others. Exercise these gifts and you should never find yourself left out of the circle of friendly communication. Only take care that you do not overplay your hand.

Among those who were born on this date are: Ralph Edwards, TV personality; William Butler Yeats, Irish poet and dramatist; Mark Van Doren, American poet, critic.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.
